

KONICHIWA! NIHON GAKUSEI

■ HELLO HARTNELL . . . from the many visitors who arrived here Sunday afternoon. The new students will spend 12 weeks on campus to study horticulture and vegetable production as the final step in a program set up jointly by the 4-H Club Foundation and the Japanese Agricultural Training Council. Special classes will be held in the Voc-Tech Building and at East Campus. Training will be carried out on farms of the area. To provide housing for the visitors some 35 local families have taken the students into their homes to become part of family life and learn something of American culture.

"The Straight Dope"

By Larry Sloan

Standard Oil Company of California has been caught with its pants down. A secret memo intercepted by the People's Lobby shows that Standard Oil has set up a $6 million fund to combat the Clean Environment Act. Standard Oil would be affected by nearly every clause of the environmental action. The Clean Environment Act would prohibit off-shore drilling and use of certain pesticides among other things.

Standard, the manufacturer of Ortho products, perhaps the largest selling brand of pesticides, claimed that the reason they would fight the act is to give every Californian the right to eat apples that are worm free. The company neglected to show concern for Californians' rights to eat apples that are poison free. One can't help but wonder if they really are as concerned about our eating worms as they are protecting their multi-billion dollar business. Are they truly objective?

The secret memo which was sent from a Standard Oil attorney to the Standard Oil president outlined a battle plan which they might use to defeat the Clean Environment Act. The first thing they wished to do was establish a front organization to promote their side. The reasoning for this, of course, is that only an idiot could believe that Standard was more concerned with our health than their billions. A front organization would appear to be a people's or citizen's organization against the radicals who are concerned with our environment.

To put the importance to Standard Oil of defeating this act in a perspective we all understand, $6 million is only a little less than the Democratic Party spent to promote its presidential candidate in the last election on a nationwide basis. When you consider that Standard is betting $6 million in California alone to defeat this act, you can dig that there is going to be some heavy brainwashing going on. Are you as a young voter to be brainwashed?

In order to reach the youth vote Standard's advertising company rejected several people and organizations mentioned to head up the united front of "Citizens Against the Clean Environment Act." Ronnie Reagan, The Chamber of Commerce, a manufacturers' association, and others had been proposed to act as fronts for

Joe's Place

Times are hard for Joe. He hasn't been able to make a decent living lately. Joe has lived at 36 Oak Street in Salinas all his life and as far back as he can remember, times have never been so hard. Joe lives in a small one-room house. Clean and healthy are not part of Joe's language. His house is always in a mess. But he doesn't mind. He's used to it.

Usually Joe has been able to scrounge up a little food, but in recent days there just is not any laying around. He has to make the most important decision in his life. He decided to move. But where? Joe remembers one of his friends telling him about a place called Hartnell. Maybe this could be just the place for somebody like Joe. Later that night, when most people are in bed, he heads for Hartnell. He doesn't have a car, only his feet to carry him.

The sun is just peeping over the mountain when Joe arrives at Hartnell and he is famished. He spies his morning breakfast lying on the grass near the Student Union. A moldy, discarded donut, tossed there by a thoughtful student.

"This is the place," said Joe to himself. "Oh boy, would you just look at this place. Papers, cups, food thrown on the grass, on the floors, food and filth everywhere. Why a fellow couldn't ask for more. This is just the place I would want to raise a family and take life easy."

Joe would sure like to make his home at Hartnell.

Well, students, teachers and others, should we let Joe live here at Hartnell?

Think about it the next time you drop your candy wrapper or toss your coffee cup on the ground.

Joe, the rat, will wait for your answer.

The Shadow Knows

I'm doomed, and it's all Larry Sloan's fault. You all remember a few weeks ago, Larry suggested in his column that some enterprising students set up an alternate commission. The rat. You probably also remember that only a short time later, some enterprising students did start a counter commission. I mean, a counter commission, a governmental structure designed to provide all the students with a voice in decision and policy making. What could be more sane?

And what could be worse for the Shadow than sanity?

Friends, my very existence is based on nonsense. Crazy is the meat of my ideas, insanity the target of my attacks. And now, some people are trying to bring sanity to this campus. What will I do?

What will I do when Lil Jimmy Personality has no meeting to call to order?

What will I do when Marilyn Slow has nothing to clarify?

And what will I do when things make enough sense that Frank Frito has nothing to mumble about? The ramifications this will have on one lonely wisp of smoke are tremendous. Why, what if this little ripple of sensibility builds into a wave and engulfs us?

Cheerleaders will begin leading cheers.

Worse yet, cheerleaders will be abolished.

The bookstore will charge reasonable prices.

The cafeteria will serve a good hamburger.

And most terrible of all, the master stroke of sanity that is so sane it will destroy this satirist once and for all; the newspaper will make sense!

My God, I can see it now and it's horrible. The Shadow 10 years from now, on the streets cadging quarters from old profs; in the gutter cursing Larry Sloan and his crazy ideas.

Help!

Please, counter commissioners, consider what you're doing before you go ahead with this sensible change. Don't destroy an aspiring satirist with your sanity. Let Hartnell continue insensible, and let the Shadow live!

Standard Oil. Each were rejected because the 18 to 25 year old voters don't identify with Reagan or business organizations in general.

With a $6 million kitty they decided to shoot the works. The plan at this time is to get certain leaders of the Democratic Party (everybody knows that youth has gone to the Jack Asses) to start campaigning against the act. Then at the right time citizens group and/or the Republican leaders would announce that they were against the act. What do you want to bet that Standard Oil with her $6,000,000 sweetening the pot for the parties doesn't pull it off?

As the person who organized the anti-Alaskan bomb test petitions at Hartnell a few weeks back, I have sat by quietly while a few of the local red-necks put me down because the bomb didn't harm the ecology of Amchitka. What could I say? I had hoped as strongly as anybody that there would be no damage. I don't think any of us who signed the petition, asking that the test be halted had had for sure there would be damage done. We only feared the worst.

Now it appears that risk was too great. Several hundred sea otters are missing. These creatures, which are among the rarest in the world, are striving to make a comeback. (Ed. Note, see Panther Sentinel issue October 1, 1971). The deaths of over 1,100 otters would definitely put a dent in their chances. Along with the missing sea otters biologists reported that many thousands of birds and fish are dead, apparently from the blast. It looks as though those who were against the bomb test will get the last "laugh." It's funny, though. Somehow it hurts to laugh at thousands of innocent deaths, doesn't it?

Marijuana users rejoice! Ronnie has decided to accept you into his fold. A bill signed by the governor this week will allow California school districts to hire former marijuana users who have been rehabilitated at least five years.

There's only one catch. You can't teach. This "progressive legislation" would allow you to become custodians or janitors. The chuckling you hear in the background is from teachers and college professors who already use the "killer weed."

It would appear that the mountains of evidence piling up from research laboratories all over the nation showing that the most dangerous thing to happen to pot smokers is getting busted, may be having some effect. One can only hope that some day pot smokers can get legislation that would allow them to do other creative things such as sweep streets and collect garbage. California no doubt has more than its share of "happy janitors" now. We hope that in the future more jobs for pot heads open up or the welfare will be out of sight.

Don't you wonder when you see the janitors at Hartnell smile, if maybe they haven't had a few hits out behind Merrill Hall? How about it Reagan or Art, do you?

B'Ballers Lose

The Hartnell Roundball team lost to the Rams from San Francisco City College last Saturday night, 69-59. The loss was the third for the Panthers, thus giving them an overall record of 2-3.

The game was fast and exciting as the "little" Panthers put out a good effort against the much taller Rams. The first half saw the men from Hartnell out in front by three points, 28-25. This was quickly changed by consecutive baskets for the Rams.

The Panthers got into quick foul trouble early in the second half. This put more men for SFCC on the charity line to sink the one pointers. This actually proved to be the winning margin.

The Hartnell team did show some signs of greatness as they leaped and scored right along with the Rams.

Several of the Panther players got into the double figure bracket. High point honors were shared by Dave McCaine, Mike Steinbach and Reggie Holmes, each with 12 digits.

131 Yards in Penalties

Hartnell Dropped 20-10

The Hartnell Panther football team's bid to capture the State Small College crown fell short last Saturday afternoon in Fresno as Reedley College downed the Hart squad 20-10.

Coach Tony Teresa's chagrers put forth a gallant effort to down the Tigers, but a wet field, numerous penalties and referee decisions gave Reedley the boost it needed to get past Hartnell.

Penalties especially ruined several Panther drives as a whopping 131 yards of real estate was marched off by flag throwing officials. Reedley was penalized a mere 32 yards with the majority coming at the end of the contest.

Reedley was the first to draw blood in the championship game. However, it came following a call which officials overruled what appeared to be a fumble recovery by Hartnell. Chris Elliott and Steve Whitted blasted Tiger QB Ron Siebert on a pass rush which caused him to lose the ball and Elliott cover the pigskin, but the play was ruled as an incomplete pass.

The decision hurt the Panthers, for on the next play Siebert threw a 30-yard TD strike to Russ Shelton. Siebert kicked the PAT to give the Tigers the 7-0 lead.

Shires' Theft Sparks Offense

It took the Panthers until late in the initial quarter to get it together. The spark to send things in gear was provided by Jim Shires as he intercepted a Siebert pass on the Ram 45-yard marker.

Alton Gerard and Ron Choate started sifting through the Ram defense until deep in Ram territory the Hart offense started to falter. At this point reliable Neal "Tex" Munn entered, and with Ron Stefani holding Munn then converted on a pretty 28-yarder to close the score to 7-3.

Munn's field goal was the last of the first half scoring as neither team could mount a drive to the end zone. Hartnell drew two opportunities to score before the half on pass thefts by Ted Uchida and another by Jim Shires, his second. The drives ended on the Rams' 23 and 19 as penalties and rugged defensive play thwarted the Hartnell scoring efforts.

In the third period Eddie Lopez, Gerard and Choate were all instrumental in gaining yardage to give Hart its next big offensive threat. The Panther offensive machine ground out yardage all the way to the Ram one where it was 4th and goal.

From there, behind solid line blocking, Gerard took Terea's hand-off and followed Choate apparently into the end zone, not to mention at least a 1st down. Officials ruled Gerard was stopped on the six-inch line and that was that. Strangely nobody thought to check the first down marker for the first down as everyone was probably too excited about the referee's ruling.

Reedley later got on the scoreboard on an 80-yard drive that was capped by a 16-yard run by Ray Scott. Siebert's kick was blocked by hard-charging Steve Jaurigue for the 13-3 count.

The Panthers' move to retaliate quickly was cut short when the Rams' Mike Eaton intercepted QB Teresa's pass. A long run by Byron Watson set up a nine-yard jaunt to pay dirt via Scott. Siebert's PAT was good for the Rams' 20-3 advantage.

Dean to Choate Clicks

Ken Dean later came in to guide the Panther offense and he responded brilliantly by leading Hartnell to its first TD. Dean fired a 59-yard pass to Ron Choate to account for the Harts' only other score. Munn's kick brought it to 20-10.

Hartnell appeared successful in recovering an onside kick, but officials ruled the ball was illegally touched by Hartnell.

Dean piloted the offense into Ram territory again, but penalties sent Hartnell back out of range of the Reedley goal line.
